Sixteen Years of Serving Breast Cancer Patients and Their Families

CLINICAL ACTIVITIES
Patient outcomes show that TurningPoint’s services improve quality of life by reducing pain, restoring motion, and regaining strength. Patients and their families are better able to cope with the physical and emotional issues of living with and surviving breast cancer.

Our financial assistance program, supported by grant funding, provided complimentary and reduced-fee programs to hundreds of patients.

EDUCATION AND OUTREACH
162 individuals were reached through TurningPoint’s complimentary monthly education programs, which aim to empower patients, their families, and caregivers with information about critical survivorship issues.

TurningPoint continues to be active, locally and nationally, to promote rehabilitation and physical activity as an integral and standard part of every breast cancer patient’s care.

In 2019, TurningPoint educated health and rehabilitation professionals about the physical and emotional side effects of treatment and the role of rehabilitation for breast cancer patients and survivors. TurningPoint reached more than 200 healthcare providers through education courses introducing breast cancer rehabilitation and survivorship for physical and occupational therapists, ultimately increasing knowledge and skills to better meet the needs of breast cancer patients and survivors.

TurningPoint achieved more than 19.9 million impressions through media and community events, raising awareness of breast cancer survivorship issues among a variety of audiences.

TurningPoint played a key role in a joint project with Georgia Tech and LymphaTech to develop and launch new technology to assist in management of lymphedema.
